

Code of Conduct for Oakwood Live

The Honor System is based on these principles:

- A student's word is his/her bond.
- A student respects the integrity of personal and institutional property.
- A student's conduct is always that of a socially responsible person.

In an effort to make your Oakwood Live experience the best one ever, the code of conduct has been establish. These guidelines will ensure that you have a productive, safe, and fun experience at Oakwood University.

OAKWOOD UNIVERSITY CODE OF CONDUCT PLEDGE

As an Oakwood University guest, I recognize my responsibility to the tradition of the institution, to my fellow students and to myself. I fully realize the significance of the Code of Student Conduct and the responsibilities imposed upon me by it and accept full responsibility for my actions; conducting myself with integrity and honor in all endeavors; never intentionally lying, cheating, stealing, or being involved in or condoning any dishonest or destructive act; and, in word and deed, support the concept and principles of the Honor System.

I agree to the following:

- The pledge above.
- I will wear my wrist band at ALL TIMES while participating in college days
- I will at all times have in my possession my chaperone's contact information
- I will observe the rules banning opposite sex visitation in the residence halls and off-campus sites.
- I will adhere to the designated curfew.

As a registered Oakwood University guest, I signify my support of and willingness to live in accordance with the codes, rules, regulations, and objectives of the University and the standards of the Seventh-day Adventist Church.
